

NCVEC petition RM-10787 is not in the best interest of amateur radio. The time honored value of the code (cw) requirement testing for amateurs is vitally important. CW as a means of communication on our amateur bands is a proven best means of emergency communications. Elimination of all code requirements for amateur licensing will lower the quality of the amateur applicants. We already have a no-code limited license for those unwilling to learn cw. Hopefully the FCC will dismiss RM-10787 with the logic that it is not in keeping with the best interests of all radio amateurs.
